Highest & Best Tuesday 2/3/26 by 5pm. Welcome to 216 Hartsdale Avenue, set on a quiet, tree-lined street in the Soundview neighborhood of White Plains. This distinctive L-shaped Tudor is defined by its gray-painted half-timbering, Navajo white stucco, and a beautifully proportioned slate roof. Inside, a gracious entrance hall opens between a sun-filled formal dining room and an expansive living room centered on a fireplace and distinctively ornamented mantelpiece, with a sunroom beyond featuring built-in oak bookcases. Original hardwood floors, doors, moldings, and baseboards remain throughout, along with two ogival archways that lend architectural continuity to the main living spaces. The updated kitchen blends character and function, with a Mexican Saltillo tile floor, decorative tiled backsplashes and risers, and appliances that include two full ovens, a new gas cooktop and a new microwave. Six bedrooms, three full bathrooms, and a powder room are spread across 2,558 square feet, offering both scale and flexibility. Additional space for storage or future expansion includes a large unfinished basement with sink, washer and dryer, and a second-floor laundry chute, as well as a walk-in attic with a cedar closet. A two-car garage completes this thoughtfully preserved home.
